PRINCESS: Oh, look, a Tin Man!

ROBBY: I am a Tirilium Carbonic alloy, miss...

PRINCESS: Princess Jazzbella Ariella Snowrella. Perhaps you've heard of me?

ROBBY: I have never heard of you. I would remember a name like that. Actually, I never forget anything. I have a computer for a brain.

PRINCESS: Oh, well, fiddle-dee-dee. Where's the woman who lives in a shoe?

ROBBY: To whom are you referring?

PRINCESS: Why, the mother of all these little Munchkins!

ROBBY: Error!

PRINCESS: Won't she get in trouble for leaving all these little Munchkins here alone? Hello little Munchkins!

ROBBY: They're children, not Munch... (dramatically) Wait! Did you feel an earthquake?

PRINCESS: No, I didn't feel anything!

ROBBY: Oh... How about now?

PRINCESS: (pauses) No, I still didn't feel anything.

ROBBY: But all these people were just singing praise to God, right?

PRINCESS: Why yes, I could hear them all the way from the enchanted forest.

ROBBY: Singing caused earthquakes in the Bible. I keep waiting for the earthquake to begin.

PRINCESS: Oh, you silly Tin Man! Singing doesn't cause earthquakes!

ROBBY: My name is Robby, I am a Tirilium Carbonic alloy, and in the book of Acts, chapter 16, singing caused an earthquake!

PRINCESS: I like the name "Tin Man" better. Hmmm, the book of Axe, you say? I've seen a man chop down a tree with an Axe, but I didn't know there was a book in the Bible about that.

ROBBY: Error! No, no, Princess. The book of ACTS! The things the disciples did!

PRINCESS: (giggling) Oh, my! Well, fiddle-dee-dee!
